Anderson-Berglund.

Mr. Joseph Anderson and Miss Josie Berglund, both of this city, were quietly married Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian parsonage by Rev. S. O. Hall. After the ceremony the couple returned to the home of the bride's parents, one mile south of town, where a wedding dinner was served to their relatives and friends.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. Berglund. She was born and reared in Lexington, and was educated in the public schools of this city. She is an accomplished young lady, and has many friends in this community.

Mr. Anderson came from Kansas City about three years ago, and is an industrious young man. He has made many friends while in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson received many beautiful presents. They will go to housekeeping at once in East Lexington.

Their many friends wish them joy and prosperity through their wedded life.

A Midnight Fire.

A dwelling occupied by Ruben Holmes on 7th street caught fire Friday night about midnight and the interior was completely consumed. The fire company responded promptly, but were unable to save the building.

W. S. Peacock of Higginsville spent yesterday in Lexington.

E. M. Traubman went to Kansas City yesterday to spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Phillips returned to their home in Kansas City Wednesday evening after attending the funeral of John Phillips.

The Intelligencer Scorched.

Wednesday night about eleven o'clock a passerby discovered this office to be on fire. The alarm spread rapidly and when the fire company arrived the room was so filled with smoke that it was almost impossible for one to enter, but the firemen without hesitancy, and by the exercise of good judgment, entered and used the water most effectively, and soon had the fire extinguished. Considerable stock was destroyed together with two cabinets, files, etc. The damage to the building was confined to the ceiling and the windows. Nearly all of the latter were broken.

Public commendation is due the fire boys for the manner in which the fire was handled. No water was thrown until the exact location of the fire was known, and then no more than enough to subdue the flames. The damage from water alone is negligible.

The loss is covered by insurance.

A Business Change.

A deal was consummated Tuesday whereby J. W. Warder, Jr., became the sole proprietor of The Princess Theatre. Campbell & Warder were the pioneers in the moving picture business in Lexington, and by always giving the public good, clean pictures, they enjoyed a large patronage. Their venture was a success from the first. Mr. Warder will continue the business along the same popular lines that has heretofore proved so successful, and by so doing hopes to receive the same liberal patronage from the people of Lexington. Mr. Campbell will give his entire time to the Bottling Works recently bought from D. T. Bogie.

Seiter Moves One Door East.

John Seiter Tuesday moved his meat market one door east from his old stand into the room recently rebuilt. Not much change is noted, however, as his shop is always faultlessly clean. He has added some new equipment, but otherwise it is the same old reliable.

Mrs. John Sturgis went to Kansas City yesterday for a few days' visit.

The Steamers Chester and Advance will leave Kansas City Saturday for St. Louis.

W. B. Wilson went to Marshall yesterday on business.

W. R. VanAnglen spent yesterday in Kansas City.

Miss Byrd Slusher, Miss Dixie Graddy and Miss Anna Lyons spent yesterday in Kansas City.

Waverly Notes.

Mrs. Ouida Abbott spent Friday and Saturday in Marshall with friends.

Phillip Rahm of Higginsville was in town several days last week.

Miss Neva Tussey was a Marshall visitor Tuesday.

Miss Louise Davis returned Friday from an extended visit with relatives in Kansas City.

Gordon Jackson and family spent Tuesday in Marshall.

Mrs. Virginia Milnor returned Tuesday from a short stay in Excelsior Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Larkin and little son of Corder spent Sunday here with relatives.

Miss Carrie Frazier spent Friday and Saturday in Marshall.

Miss Beulah Wayne of Slater is the guest of her cousins, Misses Willie and Edith Vanderlin, this week.

Miss Lalla Pelot, who has been very ill for several weeks, is better at this writing.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Lester Slusher Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Dennis Hudson and children of Kansas City is visiting her parents, Albert Jordan and wife.

Robert Motte of Chicago arrived Saturday for a short visit with his parents, R. P. Motte and wife.

Mrs. Earl Hedricks and little daughters, Kathleen and Bernice, arrived Wednesday to visit her parents, M. L. Duffy and family.

Mrs. David Rand and little son of Jackson, Mo., was called here Tuesday by the serious illness of her father, James Hellicker.

The Cantata which is to be given Friday evening, March 21st, at Wright's Grand opera house, is without question one of the most interesting Cantatas that has been published for the season of Lent.

The Great Light, by Finley Lyon, has an abundance of good melodic writing, supplemented by a harmonic variety, not frequently found in the Cantata of today.

The composer in the text, has for a greater part of the work, well arranged scripture narrative, treating of the birth, burial, crucifixion and resurrection of Christ.

The Cantata is largely choral, however, the usual solo voices, soprano, alto, tenor and bass are liberally represented. The narrative of the Passion is told in melodic recitative allotted to the tenor, interspersed with passages for chorus, which contributes one of the most moving and dramatic episodes of the work.

The closing chorus forms a fitting climax for the whole and is a brilliant piece of writing.

Misses Bertha and Anna Rostagno went to Kansas City Wednesday morning to attend the marriage of their brother, Karl, to Miss Emma Weiss. The ceremony was performed at 8:30.

Mrs. Jess Menaugh left Wednesday for a visit in Bloomington, Illinois.

Mrs. Frank Hofer, who has been visiting in Kansas City, returned home Tuesday evening.

H. T. Phillips went to Alma Wednesday on business.

A Letter From Judge Rich.

Mr. Editor:

Please favor me with a short space in your paper and in which to tender a few words of farewell to the people of Lexington. In August, 1910, I became a citizen of your city. Prior to that time for a dozen years I had made frequent visits to Lexington and had made many acquaintances there whom I counted as my personal friends, but I brought my family into a community of strangers with a few exceptions. We had not been in the town an hour before some of you endeared yourselves to us by acts of kindness and tender words of welcome that shall always hold place in our memories, and as the days passed these acts and words were constantly repeated until we soon felt that we were among sincere friends. In less than a year we were visited by serious sickness in the family and we thereby had opportunity to put your professions of friendship to the test and we found you to be true and faithful. A few weeks ago the death angel swooped down upon us and snatched our darling from our embrace and our hearts were torn and bleeding, and in this dark hour you came to us and did what you could to assuage our sorrow and help us bear our grief. I do not know what more you could have done to entice our love and I want to assure you of our deepest affection. I pray most earnestly that God may draw the hearts of the good people of Lexington to himself so that when it becomes necessary for them to pass through the dark valleys of this earthly existence they may be sustained by the strength which he alone supplies; and I wish also to testify to you out of my own experience that his grace is the sufficiency for human weakness in the severest trials of life. Though the whole world were offered as the price Lena's parents would not in this crisis part with the comfort they have in the fact that she was taught from her babyhood through all the twenty years of her earthly life to love God and keep his commandments as the duty that came, before all others, and the joy they have in the conviction from evidences of her daily life that she fully learned the lesson is beyond expression; this sort of teaching can not be begun too early nor continued too assiduously. Fare ye well; God bless you.

Sincerely, your friend,
JOHN A. RICH.

Obituary.

Margaret Jane Bristow came with her parents to Missouri when a small girl, locating at Gallatin, Missouri. She was united in marriage to Capt. Jno. F. Goodbrake May 24, 1857. They moved with their family to Lafayette county in 1863, where she has since resided.

She peacefully passed to the Great Beyond on March 5, 1913.

This brief biography is filled with many many sad as well as happy reminiscences.

Grandma Goodbrake, as she was familiarly called was a true Christian woman, having united with the Baptist church in early life. She was ever steadfast in the faith and lived up to all her obligations.

Only the few remaining old people can understand the vicissitudes of such a long eventful life as she lived.

Her greatest pleasure was found in ministering to her own household and making those around her happy. As long as she was able no one went empty handed from her door. She was ever ready to do a kind act or speak a comforting word to those in distress. The peace that always possessed her soul while living, even amidst the cares and disappointments of life attests the fact that her conscience was void of offense toward God, and the deep sympathy and warm friendship evinced by her acquaintances during her last hours, proved that she had so lived as to give no offense to her fellowman.

May the blessings of her patient, self denying life hallow the homes of her children. She leaves three children—a daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Tarlton, and two sons, C. F., who resided with his mother, and Thomas, of St. Louis, twelve grand children, two sisters, and one brother to mourn her loss. May God's comforting grace sustain and keep the bereaved ones. Her funeral was conducted by the Rev. Clark of the Baptist church, Lexington, and the remains laid to rest in beautiful Machpelah cemetery.

A FRIEND.
